FLORIDA WARNED OF HURRICANE SHOWING TENDENCY TO CURVE

Furious Windstorm Already Responsible for Seven Deaths in the State Moving Inward Again From Gulf of Mexico—Check-Up Shows Enormous Damage to Miami

MIA MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 5 (P)—Storm warnings went up along Florida's west coast tonight as a mad November hurricane began recurring from the Gulf of Mexico. At 9:30 p.m. an advisory message from the Jacksonville Weather Bureau placed the disturbance—which took seven lives yesterday as it slashed across Southern Florida—about 215 miles west-northwest of Key West with recurring tendencies.

With the hurricane fury still marling at its centre, this weird wind terror was moving west-northwest or northwest about ten miles an hour. Shipping in the eastern Gulf was turned to proceed cautiously, and southeast storm warnings were ordered up from Cedar Keys to Carrabelle.

PEADING FOR MONEY

Meanwhile, the city of Miami pleaded for money and lots of it to pay the bills of post-storm catastrophe.

After a survey showed seven dead, 137 injured and possibly $300,000 property, crop and shrubbery damage in Dade County alone from the freak storm which struck yesterday, Mayor A. D. H. Fossey asked aid from state and Federal officials.

The estimated death toll was raised tonight when Howard Gates, twenty-year-old fisherman, reported that two companions had drowned after their twenty-foot craft had foundered in Biscayne Bay during the hurricane.

He said he was washed ashore at Miami Beach, badly battered and bruised after seven hours in the tumbling waters. He identified his companions as Grady Slade, twenty-three-year-old captain of the boat, and Jim Corcoran, his helper.

Mayor Fossey said he did not know where the unbalanced, would get ready safely unbalanced, would get

REFUSES TO ACCEPT POST

John W. Dafoe Declines Appointment as Canadian Minister at Washington

OTTAWA, Nov. 5 (P)—On the eve of his departure for a holiday in Southern United States, during which he will spend some days in Washington and visit President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Mackenzie King stated to-night that John W. Dafoe, president of The Winnipeg Free Press, had definitely decided he would be unable to accept the appointment as Canadian Minister to the United States.

Dr. O. D. Skelton, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, will accompany the Prime Minister as far as Washington. Dr. Skelton has been rumored as a likely successor to the Washington diplomatic post vacated by Hon. W. D. Herdige.

WILL NOT BE APPOINTED
Skelton described his trip to the United States capital as "a visit." It has been quite definitely denied he would be appointed Canadian minister.

Since there is now no incumbent at the Canadian legation in Washington, and the trade experts from the Dominion are now in conference with United States Government trade officials, it is possible that Dr. Skelton, who is next to the Prime Minister, the directing administrative officer of the whole Canadian diplomatic corps, will remain in Washington for a time to assist to the United States.

During Mr. King's absence the Canadian legation in Washington, and the trade experts from the Dominion are now in conference with United States Government trade officials, it is possible that Dr. Skelton, who is next to the Prime Minister, the directing administrative officer of the whole Canadian diplomatic corps, will remain in Washington for a time to assist to the United States.

Young Cawley parked the truck at the camp, leaving the money in the machine while he went to the cookhouse for supper. When he returned to the car he found the money gone and the ignition wires broken. The camp telephone line had been cut a quarter of a mile from the mine office.

TWO LIBERALS ARE DEFEATED

Judicial Recounts Give Chapleau and Pontiac to Independent Liberals

AMOS, Que., Nov. 5 (P)—Mr. Justice Stein, of the Quebec Superior Court, tonight completed judicial recount of results cast October 14, and announced the election of Ernest Blais, Independent-Liberal, as Member of Parliament for Chapleau by a majority of eleven votes over T. A. Lalonde, Liberal.

The returning officer had previously declared Blais elected by his casting vote after his official record of results cast October 14, and announced the election of Ernest Blais, Independent-Liberal, as Member of Parliament for Chapleau by a majority of eleven votes over T. A. Lalonde, Liberal.

Mr. Lalonde applied for the judicial recount, which took place before the Superior Court judge. It established Blais' lead at eleven, and made the returning officer's casting vote unnecessary.

CAMPBELL'S BAY, Que., Nov. 5 (P)—Mr. J. E. McDonald, Independent Liberal, was again declared elected Member of Parliament for Pontiac by Returning Officer George London, when the judicial recount was completed here tonight.

The recount gave McDonald 5,708 votes; J. E. McDonald, Independent Liberal, 5,628; J. A. Raymond, Independent Conservative, 4,400, and D. D. Lapointe, Reconstructionist, 2,518.

None, whose election was conceded October 13, asked for a recount when he found himself defeated as complete returns were tabulated on October 28.

HUGHES RESIGNS FROM MINISTRY

Vice-President of Executive Council of Australia Accedes to Premier's Request

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 5 (CP, Cable via Reuters)—William Morris Hughes, Vice-President of the Executive Council, resigned to-day from the Cabinet, following a disagreement over the question of sanctions.

The veteran member of the House of Representatives, who was himself Prime Minister from 1915 until 1923, was asked by Prime Minister Lyons last week to resign. Dr. Lyons sent a telegram to Hughes from Canberra, the capital, in which he said that Hughes' book "Australia and War Today," indicated that Hughes did not support the Government's policy in application of sanctions against Italy.

HEPBURN PLANS TO LEAVE POST

Premier of Ontario to Retire From Public Life Because of Ill-Health

TORONTO, Nov. 5 (P)—Ill-health has forced the retirement of Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, and when the 1936 session of the Legislature closes, he announced today, he will return to his farm near St. Thomas and give up public life.

Mr. Hepburn, who has served as Premier little more than a year, will leave tomorrow for an unannounced vacation in the United States to recuperate from a recurrent attack of bronchitis that has aggravated a chronic heart condition.

He will return in time for the Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa on November 27. If the expected special Fall session of the Legislative assemblies he will lead the Dominion Government.

GOING BACK TO FARM

"There is no chance of me changing my mind," the thirty-nine-year-old Premier said today. "I simply can't carry on. I can't do justice to the party, the people or myself in my present condition. There is no need for anyone to become alarmed, but I must heed the warning signal. I am going back to the farm."

Mr. Hepburn said that after the 1938 session he would "advise the Liberal Association of my intention to retire, so that my successor may be chosen." There was no indication who the successor would be.

ROSSI LEADING IN ELECTION RETURNS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5 (P)—Mayor Angelo J. Rossi held a lead of more than 17,000 votes over his nearest competitor tonight in his fight for re-election as mayor, tabulated for 100 out of 1,085 precincts.

The tally gave Rossi 43,801, Supervisor Adolph Uhl was the runner-up with 26,532.

Mine Payroll Stolen From Truck While Driver at Supper

NELSON, Nov. 5 (P)—British Columbia police tonight were seeking trace of the thief or thieves who escaped with $1,300 from a truck of C. A. Cawley, Salmo, late this afternoon. The money had been taken to the Sheep Creek gold mines camp near Salmo, by Cawley's son, Arthur, and was to have been used to cash miners' cheques, a customary procedure on pay days.

Young Cawley parked the truck at the camp, leaving the money in the machine while he went to the cookhouse for supper. When he returned to the car he found the money gone and the ignition wires broken. The camp telephone line had been cut a quarter of a mile from the mine office.

Mexico Refuses To Modify Law For Episcopates

Government Refuses to Allow Church to Impart Religious Education or Hold Property—Societal Teachings Will Be Enforced—Clergy Blamed for Instigating Internal Wars

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5 (P)—Laws regulating religious worship and implanting Socialist education in Mexico will be strictly enforced, the Government announced today in reply to the recent appeal by Roman Catholic Episcopates for modification.

In the name of President Lazaro Cardenas, Secretary of the Interior Silvana Barrios, addressed an open letter to Catholics, informing them the Government considered unjustified their arguments for restoration of the right of the church to hold property and impart religious education.

Gonzales said the church would not be allowed to teach religious instruction, and the Socialist education, which teaches no religion, would be enforced, but he asserted that parents would not be prevented from giving religious instruction to their children.

IMPOSSIBLE IN MEXICO
Gonzales said complete religious freedom, which the Catholics pointed out was allowed in some countries, was impossible in Mexico.

The man, whose name was not learned, was pulled from the water. The Arizona was pumping oil to Pier 41 when the fire started. The crew and dock employees fought the flames until fire equipment arrived.

About the same time that the Arizona caught fire, flames were discovered in the hold of the McCormick freighter W. A. McKinney, in another part of the harbor. The fire was extinguished quickly. Damage was slight.

GOING FROM COLONY TO NEW SOUTH WALES

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 5 (P)—Sir David Murray Anderson, Governor of Newfoundland, is to be the next Governor of New South Wales. It was announced officially here.

SINGER BADLY HURT
NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (P)—Miss Queenie Mario, Metropolitan Opera soprano, was injured painfully in a collision between her taxicab and an automobile yesterday. Her injuries included torn shoulder ligaments and two scalp wounds.

BERLIN, Conn., Nov. 5 (P)—John Krause was struck twice by automobile within an hour. The first time a physician gave him first aid and sent him home. The second time his leg was fractured and he was taken to hospital.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (P)—Joseph Vitale, charged with murder by an incendiary blaze that cost ten lives, was sentenced to 190 years in prison today.

Judge Joseph David imposed the

With a Republican sweep unassisted by the Assembly, also in the state's numerous mayoralty elections, the party's leaders asserted the new deal had been repudiated.

Postmaster-General Farley disagreed. Gerrymandering, he said, made it impossible for the Democrats to elect, normally, a majority of the State's Assembly.

SIX ON PLANE LOST IN NORTH

Four Flyers Searching for Machine Between Dawson and Fairbanks

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Nov. 5 (P)—Four skilled Arctic flyers searched through the air today for a passenger plane flown by Pilot Jack Herman, missing in rugged, snow-choked country since it left Dawson, Y.T. on a flight to Fairbanks last Saturday with five passengers aboard.

The passengers were Peter Funk, O'Neil, Okry Green, Walter James and George Townsend, all of Dawson.

Pilot Vic Ross, one of the searchers, said before he took off today, he felt no great fear for their safety.

MAV BE STUCK IN SNOW

"With the heavy rains of the past few days, Herman may have been forced down and stuck in the snow somewhere, unable to take off," he said.

Extremely heavy rains have partly melted a thick snow blanket over interior Alaska over the weekend.

The territory in which the Herman plane is missing is that in which Pilot Arthur Hines and three passengers disappeared on August 19 on a similar flight from Dawson.

No trace has been found of them.

AT THE FRONT WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY, Nov. 5.—A four-pointed drive by more than 125,000 Italian soldiers upon the strategic Ethiopian city of Makale was halted by rains. A "breathing spell" of two days, however, was welcomed by the Fascist high command, eager to keep its carefully-mapped plan of advance intact.

Campaign's Progress Appears Encouraging For the Government

Chancellor of Exchequer Warns Against Over-Confidence—Expected Majority Rises in Britain—Socialism in Scotland Battles Itself

LONDON, Nov. 5 (P)—Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, today said the progress of the National Government's electoral campaign was "very encouraging." But he added a warning that over-confidence was apparent in too many districts.

A leading firm of bookmakers has opened betting on the size of the Government's expected majority. It started yesterday at 170 and today rose to 210.

MACDONALD'S COMPARISON

The Government's record as a peacemaker was contrasted by Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, with the attitude of the Labor party on foreign affairs in a broadcast speech tonight.

"Practically all their leaders assume an aggressive attitude against other nations—not only Italy—but they refuse to provide defenses which would certainly be required if they were taken at their word," said the former Prime Minister.

At Stoke-on-Trent, J. H. Thomas, Dominions' Secretary, was frequently interrupted when he spoke in support of the candidature of his son.

When the din subsided, Thomas said:

STATE BEFORE PARTY
"I fought for and built up the Labor party. I made the railwaymen's conditions, but I taught the railwaymen that if it became an issue between the state and a section of the people, the state must be supreme."

There were further interruptions later, and when Thomas' son tried to speak he could not be heard.

Of 954 candidates who have replied to the questionnaire of David Lloyd George's Council for Peace and Reconstruction, 351 have given replies which satisfy the council. Included in those are 110 who voted for the council's support in the campaign are eighteen Conservatives.

The Conservatives issued an urgent appeal for funds, pointing out that the expense of the present election exceeds that of 1931, owing to the greater number of contested seats. Labor already has a 1,000,000-shilling election fund under way.

SOCIALISTS DIVIDED

GLASGOW, Nov. 5 (P)—Socialism in Scotland is battling with itself. In eleven Scottish constituencies—six of them in Glasgow—the breach between Labor's right and left wings is complete. They are running opposing candidates. Either it is official Labor opposing the Independent Labor party, under James Maxton, or it is the ILP, opposing official Labor.

VISITORS FROM EAST EXPECTED

Vice-President of C.P.R.
Looks for Increase of Winter Travelers

GEORGE STEPHEN

Indications are that more Eastern Canadians will spend the winter in Victoria than they have done for several years. George Stephen, vice-president in charge of traffic, Canadian Pacific Railway, arrived on his annual tour of the company's systems. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen plan to leave the city yesterday.

Accompanied by Mrs. Stephen, he arrived from Seattle, which he visited after leaving Vancouver several days ago. He is making an inspection tour over the company's systems. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen plan to leave the city yesterday.

A DECIDED PICK-UP

"According to our records," Mr. Stephen said, "regular tourist business on Vancouver Island showed a decided pick-up this summer over the 1934 season."

"Our summer tourist business to Alaska was also very much better than it has been for several years—very decidedly better," the executive added.

Mr. Stephen stated he had found things generally better across the country. In the East, the past few months, the people have become more cheerful and more optimism was felt in business there, he said.

THE PARTY'S DEMAND

The Independent Labor Party demands that the following pounds should be spent to provide pensions for the aged and widows, decent allowances for children and general treatment of the unemployed. Increased pensions are urgently necessary and every person and widow should receive their pension without any contributions, stamp or tax. The ILP stands for a policy of life and happiness against the Government's policy of death and destruction."

The Conservatives issued an urgent appeal for funds, pointing out that the expense of the present election exceeds that of 1931, owing to the greater number of contested seats.

Labor already has a 1,000,000-shilling election fund under way.

Only a few weak bands of Ethiopians have been sighted and these fled immediately upon rifle fire from the Italians.

The River Agula, which rises at Abi, on the far edge of the plateau dominating Danakil, flows into the River Sule, where Gen. Pirzio-Biroli's African divisions halted.

Thereafter, the Mal Uer River roughly marks the Italian advance.

Officers are confident the advance could continue well beyond Makale without serious fighting.

points in relation to its total tonnage.

FACES POTATO FAMINE

SEATTLE, Nov. 5 (P)—Seattle faced a potato famine tonight after jobbers reported themselves unable to replenish their exhausted stores from Washington fields.

Seattle potato growers, finding most of their late crop frozen in the ground, were holding their few round potatoes for exorbitant prices or were refusing to sell at any price until the full extent of the damage is ascertained and the market stabilized.

Jobbers refused to undertake an estimate of the total crop loss over the Pacific Northwest. They said it was still too early. Some, however, believe the apple damage will run to $4,000,000 in the Wenatchee and Yakima Valleys.

MAKING FAST TIME ON AFRICAN FLIGHT

Mr. McKenzie resided at Summit House for some time and became well known to hunters in the late eighties.

WAS PROSPECTOR

Continuing his railroad career, Mr. McKenzie built the Extension Mine railway and also the big tunnel there.

He then turned to prospecting and for several years covered the northern portion of Vancouver Island for the Canadian Collieries.

Mr. McKenzie always found time to devote to fraternal organizations. He was an honorary member of both Victoria-Quidgia Lodge No. 2, A.F. & A.M., and Mount Newton Lodge, A.F. & A.M., and a charter member of three Loyal Orange Lodges, Lodge No. 1426, Saanichton Lodge, and Royal Black Perceverance.

Mr. McKenzie is survived by his wife, Mrs. Arthur Pitts, and his daughter, Mrs. Mrs. E. N. Nisbett, Saanichton; Mrs. Arthur Pitts, Langford; Miss Mildred McKenzie, at home; Mr. Harold Kennedy, Sidney, and Mrs. A. Dorman, Kimberley, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

PROGRESS ADOPTED

An official communiqué said a Canadian proposal adopted by the subcommittee provided that the list of "key products" barred to Italy should be extended by various articles, as soon as conditions necessitate to render the extension effective.

The addition would include petroleum, its derivatives and by-products; pig iron, iron, steel, including alloys; coal, coke and their agglomerates, as well as fuels derived from them.

What was called a formula of "non-interference" was devised.

Under this, normal trade with non-participating states will be permitted to continue unless there develops a wholly abnormal growth of this trade and that the merchandise is going to Italy.

PROGRESS IN ROME

Rome, Nov. 5 (P)—Premier Mussolini and Sir Eric Drummond, the British ambassador, renewed their efforts today to pour oil on the troubled Mediterranean and were understood to have made progress.

A one-hour talk between them was said officially to have dealt with the question of British naval tonnage in the Mediterranean and Italy's military reinforcement in Libya.

Well-informed circles the belief was expressed that Sir Eric had received from II Duke an agreement to withdraw a second Libyan division, in return for a promise that Britain would recall at least part of her fleet units from the Mediterranean.

II DUCE'S REPRISALS

This "peace talk" took place after II Duke began "reprisals" against sanctionist nations, encouraging the country to eat and buy Italian.

II Duke started his programme of reprisals against sanctions with

1. Medieval Tuesdays.

2. Housewives' control of home expenses—"buying Italian."

3. Increased prices for certain imported supplies.

4. Voluntary restrictions by trade organizations to save light, fuel, paper and other products bought by the public.

Prices went up. Gasoline, already heavily taxed, rose from 85 cents a gallon to $1.08. Coal and gasoline, both of which Italy must import, are distributed carefully in order to preserve supplies for the army and navy.

CABINET IS CALLED

London, Nov. 6 (P)—Cabinet ministers hurried to Downing Street for a surprise meeting last night with Prime Minister Baldwin—called, it is believed, as the result of a report from Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome, in new conversations with Italy's Dictator.

No statement was issued after the meeting but it was understood that steps designed to ease the tension in the Mediterranean were discussed.

GEORGE STEPHEN

George Bernard, charged with having returned to Canada with about $5,000 worth of levies in it, which had been taken from the home of D. O. Cameron, 352 Gorge Road, recently visited the scene of the arrest on Tolmie Avenue, which is the locality where the safe was located by the police.

The request was made yesterday in the Assize Court by the accused, who is conducting his own defence.

Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, who is presiding over the Assizes, said if the accused were represented by counsel, he would have no hesitation in refusing the request.

He said his charge was based upon "a careful safe investigation extending over several months."

He had definite information, he said, to the effect that at least $400,000 was brought to Seattle recently for "use" by Communists in the Fisher Mill strike by a man whose name we know, the Russian pay-off man of the Pacific Secretariat of the Communist party at San Francisco."

READY TO TELL

The mayor offered to appear before the Seattle Central Labor Council to tell its members where it can make a start in "house-cleaning."

Unions on strike at the mill are the Federal Union of Flour, Cereal Workers, Weavers and Warehousemen's Union. The latter is affiliated with the International Longshoremen's Association.

Since the strike the longshoremen have refused to handle Fisher products at Pacific Coast docks.

"From this time on we are going to make Seattle too hot for Communists," Mayor Smith said.

DEATH ENDS LONG CAREER

Mr. Cameron told of contents taken and which he had had appraised as to value, which was placed at $5,000. The safe stood in a closet off one of the bedrooms.

He had a message to give to the police, he said, and had gone at once to visit Lake Chehalis.

To the accused he had offered to return the safe to him if he would pay the value of the article, if any.

Just about the time he reached the police station after hurrying back to the city, Mr. Cameron said the police were bringing the accused to him.

HOUSE RANSACKED

Miss H. J. Carlow, who was employed in the Cameron home, told of leaving the house locked securely at 8:15 on July 13. She had gone to her own home. There was no one else in the house when she left. She went out by the back door and locked it.

When she came back about midnight, she discovered the back door was open and various rooms had been ransacked. The safe had disappeared.

Detectives Farnell, Woodburn and Jack Rogers testified as to the discovery of the safe and the arrest of the accused and John Card, who were charged with the offence of illegal possession of the safe and contents.

The detectives, from information received, had gone to Tolmie Avenue, where the safe was found among bushes in the brickyard. It was in a place where it would not be noticed from the outside.

They had been ransacking for hours when they found the safe. Two members of the uniformed force, Alex Briggs and Sam McKenzie, were posted in the bushes in the field where they would not be seen and were within easy reach, while the detectives covered the situation from a house nearby where they were permitted to occupy a sort of grandstand position overlooking the scene.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE

Three had driven up in a light truck and inspected the place earlier in the afternoon and then drove away again. The police had waited their time and when in the evening the truck returned they were ready as a reception committee to receive them, witness testified.

Two of the party, one described by the detectives in their evidence as being dressed in light clothes with a light hat, and the other answering to the description of the accused, dressed in dark clothes and bare headed, had taken the safe and placed it in a sack and were proceeding to carry it out to the truck when Detective Woodburn cut off the advance by going out the back door of the house and calling upon the two safe carriers to stick up their hands.

FIRED SHOTS

At the same time Detective Rogers closed in from the front door and fired two shots, by arrangement.

Evolution of Travel By Sea Is Narrative Of Historical Facts

Captain R. W. McMurray, R.N.R., Tells Burns Club Members Romance of Shipbuilding and Some Interesting Stories of the Early Vessels

MEMBERS of Victoria Burns Club went to sea last night with Captain R. W. McMurray, R.N.R., manager of the British Columbia Coast Steamships, whose narrative "The Evolution of Transportation by Sea," formed an interesting, biographical sketch of ships from Noah's Ark to the newest creation of the shipbuilders' art, the Queen Mary.

An informative observation, Captain McMurray mentioned that down through the ages shipbuilders had adopted the plan of Noah in respect to the length and breadth of ships—that a vessel's length should be six times greater than its beam. The present-day liner, however, had increased the scale to eighteen knots.

RIDING A LOG

Captain McMurray did not go into detail with respect to the Ark of Biblical days, but used the primitive method of riding on a log as the first attempt at transportation by water, a method that was followed by the dugout and still later the covered vessel. From the covered vessel the art of shipbuilding grew rapidly to a scientific profession.

Wooden sailing vessels reached the peak of their usefulness between 1850 and 1870. On the American continent, the ships were built mostly of softwoods, which limited their life to around twenty years, after which they became water-logged.

In Great Britain and on the Continent of Europe hardwoods were used exclusively in the construction of ships, which gave them a sailing life of around forty years and more. Nelson's flagship, Victory, he said, was forty years old when engaged at the Battle of Trafalgar, and remained another forty years in service. The flag ship is now at Portsmouth and although "high and dry," may be preserved intact for another century.

IRON VESSELS.

It was in 1819, Captain McMurray remarked, that the first iron ships were put into service. He named the first iron ship as the first, if not the first of the iron ships. In 1880 steel replaced iron, and ten years later—the seas saw the last of the iron vessels.

During the gold rush to California, in 1849, sailing ships were put into service on the New York-San Francisco run and it was on that route that the Flying Cloud made the almost incredible trip in eighty-nine days around the Horn. The Lightning of 1854, made the crossing from Boston to Liverpool in fast time. In one twenty-four-hour run the vessel covered 436

BUSINESS MEETING

W. A. Jameson presided and the business part of the meeting consisted of a report from J. Munro, who represented the Victoria Club at the convention of the Federation of Burns Clubs in the Old Land; greetings from the club to its new honorary president, Lord Tweedsmuir, and the introduction of new members.

After the business, members were entertained with solos by Mrs. D. D. McTavish, recitations by Miss Catherine Craig, hornpipe by the Misses Gwen Dewar and Jessie Pollock, and by Frank Tupman and A. McGowan. Pipe-Major Donald Cameron, W.O., opened the meeting with a bagpipe selection and Miss Janet Smith was the accompanist to the solo. The vote of thanks was moved by J. A. Dewar.

LIFE AT SEA. Some of Captain McMurray's references to life at sea were highly interesting. From a ship's publication he gleaned the following instructions from ship officers to passengers and remarked about the difference between the status of a passenger of sailing ship days and that of the present.

On the Lightning was posted the instructions: Lights out at 10 p.m.; all beds on deck twice a week; passengers to appoint constables for the maintenance of order and safety of families, in return for such service constables were to receive a ration of grog or coffee each morning; second-class not allowed on windward side of ship; no opening of ports or portholes.

Professor F. G. C. Wood says Recent Plays of England Lacking in Idea

After combing through a generous assortment of recent English plays and some that have found favor with American audiences, Professor F. G. C. Wood, of the department of English, University of British Columbia, offered the opinion that the class of plays produced in England during the past five years did not compare favorably with those of America because of their inability to get close to life.

Professor Wood was querying to an audience at Girls' Central School whether the auspices of the University Extension Association on "Recent Day Drama in England." His lecture for the most part, a series of criticisms of modern English playwrights and their offerings to the theatre-going public.

LACKING IN IDEA. Professor Wood's criticisms left the audience with the impression that modern playwrights, with the exception of those that had failed to produce plays that were based on an idea that made the play immediately acceptable. Modern plays, he said, owed their success to superficial acting and not the idea behind the production.

Leaving the sailing ship days, Captain McMurray reviewed some of the history of the iron and steel vessels and the coming of the steam-propelled ship. The first and crossing of the Atlantic by a sail and steam vessel was in 1819, when the ship only steamed eighty hours. To Canada goes the honor of having built the first all-steam vessel to cross the Atlantic. The Royal William, a three-wheeler, from Quebec to Liverpool. It was not until 1839 that the screw propeller was invented and 1840 before the steam turbine came into use. The first turbine ship was the Allan liner Victorian, launched in 1864.

THE QUEEN MARY.

Before closing his interesting narrative, Captain McMurray mentioned the unlike of old sailing vessels for stars, their speed, dislike for engineers, whom they accepted as a "necessary evil." He closed his account of the sea with a brief review of the Queen Mary, with a length of 1,018 feet, beam 118 feet, a gross tonnage of 73,900 tons, and a prospective speed of over thirty knots an hour. "We hope," he said, "she will be a adoption of style and texture in a

A ROYAL MARRIAGE

It is no longer the case that considerations of policy dictate alliances by marriage in which both the parties are of the Royal blood. There is an instance of this in the wedding today at Buckingham Palace in which the principals are Their Majesties' third son, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Lady Alice Scott, a daughter of the House of Buccleugh. Like his brother, the Duke of York, today's bridegroom went north of the Tweed for his bride. The loss of Lady Scott's father since the engagement was announced has led to the marriage taking place at Buckingham Palace instead of Westminster Abbey. It is a private ceremony, shorn of all the trappings that are the customary accompaniment of Royal weddings.

This is the year of the Royal Jubilee, a time when perhaps more than ever before in the reign of the present King the people of the Empire have shown their sincerity and affection in their attitude towards the British Dynasty. The Royal engagement which is being consummated in the wedding today has aroused the widest possible interest. Lady Alice Scott may not be well known to the people at large. She is the member of an historic Scottish house and, like the rest of her family, has won the respect and the affection of the tenantry of the Buccleugh estate and has taken her proper place in the social duties and the hospitalities of her station. She is thus equipped for the role she will now assume in the life of the nation, and the duties and responsibilities of public service that such a life will entail.

The Duke of Gloucester has been a public figure for several years past. His career has been military, and he has attained the rank of major. He is known as a keen sportsman, being particularly fond of steeplechasing. His recent prolonged tour of Australasia made him well known to the people of that part of the Empire. It seems likely that in future his travels will be extended and other parts of the Imperial domain will learn to know him better. Those who do know him recognize a pleasing personality and a modest bearing which, indeed, are characteristics of all Their Majesties' sons. Today's wedding, though of such a private nature, will arouse in the perspective of its importance just as much interest as if the ceremony were enacted in Westminster Abbey.

REBKE TO EXTRAVAGANCE

England is beginning to experience the results of labor rule in its municipal life. The rule has meant, wherever there have been Labor majorities, extravagance in the administration of local councils. The people are very apathetic in the matter of their municipal politics. Whereas when there is a general election a large vote can be counted on, when there are council elections it is rarely that more than one in three of the electors takes the trouble to go to the polls. Of that one in three Labor can be assured of having an excellent representation because Socialist policies are voted upon strenuously by their adherents. Socialists always endorse spending proclivities. It is their influence more than anything else which has led to the amount raised in rates in England having increased from £1,250,000 a year twenty years ago to the present sum of £147,750,000.

The recent county council election in England showed an awakening to the danger of Socialistic rule. The Conservatives gained more seats than any of their opponents, and the Liberals and Independents practically held their own in the results. Labor sustained the heaviest losses. The outcome is regarded by the National Government as a hopeful augury of its success at the polls on November 14. That outcome has been a definite setback to Socialist policies in many of the English cities, and it is a revolt against the increased taxation which those policies have meant. Moreover, the result will prove an incentive in encouraging voters to greater efforts in the general election.

In the major sphere of politics the Socialists showed their incapacity to govern by the low ebb to which they brought the fortunes of Great Britain in 1931. The people have not forgotten that lesson, and that they have not is illustrated by the outcome of the recent local council elections, which have an undoubted significance on the eve of a general appeal to the people. The causes operating in the minds of the people were undoubtedly voiced by Lord Jossel in a memorandum which he issued as president of the National Union of Ratepayers' Associations when he said:

"The Labor Party has made no secret of its contempt for the mere work of administration in local government. The actual records of administration of town councils by Labor majorities show their complete indifference to the ratepayers of the towns for which they have been responsible. They have openly declared their willingness to spend other people's money for their own purposes. They have used poor relief as a bribe to the electors. The records of extravagance and other forms of maladministration are many and alarming. They have used their control over public elementary schools to force upon the children Socialist theories, under the guise of education. The London County Council has gone so far as to prohibit the customary celebration of Empire Day in the schools. Socialist councils take every opportunity to put in force municipal trading, municipal ownership, municipal banking to the detriment of private enterprise. A large number of people take the view that politics should not enter into local government. The Labor Party makes no secret of advancing the policy of Socialism in the sphere of local government. It is therefore vital that organized defence should be undertaken by all those opposed to Socialism."

B.C. EDITOR RETIRES

After twenty years in the editorship of The Rossland Miner, one of British Columbia's splendid weeklies, Mr. Will A. Eletson has announced his retirement. Mr. Eletson has had an association with newspaper publications extending for more than half a century, and in that long experience of public service won for himself an enviable reputation as a man who steadfastly maintained the highest and best of the traditions of his profession.

After an experience gained in the East in the different branches of newspaper work, Mr. Eletson came to the Coast more than thirty years ago and identified himself with the Vancouver World. When that journal passed from the control of Mr. L. D. Taylor, Mr. Eletson went to Rossland, where he acquired the controlling interest in The Miner. Since that time the famous old mining camp experienced many vicissitudes, but throughout the days of depression and periods of prosperity The Miner, under his direction, maintained a high standard of community service. It was constant in its predictions that Rossland would again become a factor in the mining activities of British Columbia. Rossland has justified that faith, and Mr. Eletson feels that he may lay down the task that he set himself twenty years ago. He may do so with the consciousness that we avoid political chaos and maintain political order.

His successor, Mr. E. M. Daly, is a young man who received a large part of his newspaper training in the office of The Miner, and as a result a continuation of the policy of community service may be expected.

A Diesel light chassis has been manufactured in Great Britain of ten nominal horsepower which will attain a speed of fifty miles an hour and run sixty-five miles to the gallon of fuel. The engine weighs 280 pounds including a sixty-pound flywheel, and it has the appreciable advantages of other compression ignition units over the petrol engine such as capacity to take up a full load when cold. The new chassis is being sold at $1,000, the engine and four-speed gearbox unit being sold separately for conversion at $800.

In these latter days, preachers in some pulpits are devoting themselves to economic problems and neglecting the weightier matters of the spiritual law. "The Pulpit," says Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, "bids for the impossible when it proposes reforms without emphasizing regeneration of character."

Dr. Robert A. Millikan says that "in intellectual power we do not surpass, even if we equal, the Athenians or the Alexandrians," which affords a commentary on the general spread of education.

It is heresy to say so now when the doctrine of self-determination is so rampant, but the world would lose nothing if the legal age of voting were determined by some sort of intelligence test.

SUPERSTITIONS

I hope that the scientific conscience will win a great victory by driving into Limbo that mass of half-beliefs which we call superstitions. It is a big thing to ask for superstition is as old as man himself, and will not be cast out without a strenuous resistance. But what a shameful and discreditable thing it is to see an otherwise intelligent person refuse to sit down to dinner as one of thirteen guests to the table on May 13. "What's the world?" if he has said anything "unlucky." Do people believe these things or not? They do not know themselves. At the back of their minds there is a half-conscious urge not to violate a taboo. "There may be something in it." We might suppose that a man who believes in God will wish him for getting married in May must be a pure savage in religion. But this would be to underestimate the irrationality of human nature, wherever primitive racial instinct is in question.—The Ven. Dr. Inge.

By R. B. D.

The recovery of freedom is so splendid a thing that we must not let it go to waste. We must do all we can to restore it—those who have it and those who are always ready to guard and defend it—Weber.

God grants liberty only to those who have it and who are always ready to guard and defend it—Weber.

Popes' abstract proposition that the proper study of mankind is man may be all very well in its old-fashioned way, but the most interesting study of modern man should be current history. Survey the conditions in the world today, and conclude the latter proposition if you can. In Canada's few weeks ago we wrote the word "fascism" to one chapter of current history and began to write a new volume. Prime Minister Bennett has laid down the pen of the political historian and Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie, King has taken it up. The politicians, like the captains and the kings, depart, but there are always other politicians appearing to take their places. That is why we avoid political chaos and maintain political order.

Next week in Great Britain they will be either endorsing the policies of the old Government or halting the advent of a new Government.

Political prophets or forecasters profess to know what will happen over there, but the wise man never prophesies until after the event. No one knows what will happen when issues are submitted to the judgment of the people, but it is quite safe to predict that the one political thing the people of Great Britain will have nothing to do with a free Government by a free people. The voters of other countries may toy with political explosives which may go off and provide opportunities for the exploits of ambitious demagogues, but our people always choose the way of peace, permanence and security. We may change governments, but we never radically change our system of government.

Can there be a more interesting study for sane men than the avidity with which ambitious individuals have adopted and individuals of bovine mentality have accepted the concepts of dictatorship. There are individual dictators who dictate the courses of nations and individuals who dictate the manner in which the businesses of nations shall be conducted. The latter form of this species of insanity has appeared on the continent of democratic America. If the fever spreads, the next thing may be international dictatorship. The people of the United States profess a horror of the idea of Fascism, yet have nothing to do with it. Babe Ruth hooked up with Sherry Smith, Brooklyn, in a fourteen-inning baseball duel in the world's series. Ruth worked for Boston and won the game, 2-1. Jim Thorpe scored twenty-five touchdowns for Carlisle Indians in 1912; two years later he cleaned up at the Olympic Games and then had all his medals taken away because he was professionalized.

Ramblings From Vancouver

Billy Townsend, who Victoria boxing fans will recall, fought Tommy Fielding here a few years ago, and then crashed theistic spotlight in the East, is now a waiter in a beer parlor at Vancouver. Billy says he's through with the fight game. Well he should know. Ernie Bickerton, Vancouver pachyderm, who wrestled here a few years ago, is a good example of a fighter who has been beaten by a woman.

Sir.—It is with regret and deep sorrow we hear of the death of our colleague, Mr. S. J. Head, who has been a trustee and the secretary of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium, a body which is in need of funds to continue its service for crippled children.

Through the initiative of the Royal Oak Women's Institute a badly needed X-ray apparatus will be shortly provided, but we remain in urgent need of funds for an improved isolation ward, an indoor massage pool and an ambulance.

Wyatt Earp With Ellsworth Now at Deception Island

Leader of Expedition Sketches Vivid Word Picture Of Ship Bucking Pack Ice on Way to Narrow Harbor Entrance

By LINCOLN ELLSWORTH (Copyright, 1935, by the North American Newspaper Association. Reprinted by the New York Times Company.)

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Nov. 4 (By wireless).—The motor-ship Wyatt Earp is at Deception Island again, on the third Ellsworth trans-Antarctic flight expedition, and preparations are being made to assemble the airplane Polar Star on the deck. I do not intend to fly here but to carry the plane fully rigged eastward to Dundee Island as soon as the ice permits.

For an entire day, with the ice, the islands and the wind as partners, we played a four-handed game of noughts and crosses. We dodged and veered, braked and slided, sometimes almost scraping our sides against the icebergs which studded the pack ice.

Sometimes we cut through a ten-meter of the pack to reach a promising lane of open water, only to have the opening quickly closed upon us by the force of the wind and ocean currents. Singing now steadily beat down from the north-west like giant whistled hands, smothering, obscuring everything.

EFFORTS IN VAIN

Once we ran for shelter in an indentation in the coast of Livingstone Island, later venturing forth to try every means of making our way to Antarctic Sound. Our efforts were in vain, and darkness found us within a mile of the point from which we had started early in the morning.

Drifting slowly like a tired bird, in migration we waited until 6 o'clock this morning, when the wind and the press of ice again Deep-ton Island slackened. Then, taking advantage of this lessening resistance, we essayed to force the Dundee Island lies about a hundred pack. Sticking the blunt nose miles east of here.

Strike Critical Over Gulf
Coast—Port of Lake
Charles Closed

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 5 (UPI).—The International Longshoremen's Association strike impasse, with shippers tightened today over the Gulf Coast as the ports, with the exception of Lake Charles, continued striking in the face of a boycott.

The boycott, ordered yesterday by J. P. Ryan, head of the I.L.A., was announced here today by the shippers with the statement, "Lake Charles will sign no contracts with the I.L.A."

The local port has been shut down by order of the governor for twenty-four days since a flare gun battle in which three dock guards were slain.

Ryan said the boycott would apply against ship owners who have refused to do business with the I.L.A. and would be enforced against Gulf Coast ships which dock at Atlantic ports.

Ship operators here today said they were prepared to operate in spite of the embargo. The Lakes Coastwise Line last week told shippers that their cargoes would be handled at Baltimore, New Bedford, Boston and Norfolk.

Ship operators here today said they were prepared to operate in spite of the embargo. The Lakes Coastwise Line last week told shippers that their cargoes would be handled at Baltimore, New Bedford, Boston and Norfolk.

Arriving here early this morning Canadian-Australasian Ss. Niagara, Captain T. H. Hill, commander, will have only a light passenger list and average cargo aboard. The liner will continue to Vancouver to meet the steamer Ritter Pier. She will make a quick turn-around at the Mainland port being scheduled to leave there at midnight on Friday. The Niagara is due to arrive at the local dock on the route to Sydney and way ports early Saturday, and is posted to sail for Honolulu, her first port of call, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Coming in from the United Kingdom via Panama, California and Washington, the French Line's ownership Pacific Reliance, Captain E. O. Evans, will end up alongside Ritter Pier at 7 o'clock last evening. The Reliance discharged 12 tons of general cargo on the local dock before continuing to Mainland ports shortly before midnight. There were two passengers aboard for Vancouver Mr. Fox and Master Fox, who were returning to their home there after a visit to the Old Country.

For lumber cargo, the George M. Embree was an arrival at the Ogden Point assembly plant early yesterday morning. Completing her loading here, the Sianian shifted to New Westminster for additional lumber cargo last night.

Colorful Indian
Chief Passes On
—Northern Coast

MASSET, B.C., Nov. 5 (UPI).—Henry Eadsenow, colorful Indian chief and one of the last survivors of the days before the white man settled the Northern British Columbia Coast, is dead here aged sixty-five. He was well known as a fish packer and had recently visited Vancouver with his boat.

The local port has been shut down by order of the governor for twenty-four days since a flare gun battle in which three dock guards were slain.

Ryan said the boycott would apply against ship owners who have refused to do business with the I.L.A. and would be enforced against Gulf Coast ships which dock at Atlantic ports.

Ship operators here today said they were prepared to operate in spite of the embargo. The Lakes Coastwise Line last week told shippers that their cargoes would be handled at Baltimore, New Bedford, Boston and Norfolk.

Arriving here early this morning Canadian-Australasian Ss. Niagara, Captain T. H. Hill, commander, will have only a light passenger list and average cargo aboard. The liner will continue to Vancouver to meet the steamer Ritter Pier. She will make a quick turn-around at the Mainland port being scheduled to leave there at midnight on Friday. The Niagara is due to arrive at the local dock on the route to Sydney and way ports early Saturday, and is posted to sail for Honolulu, her first port of call, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

PLAN STUDY OF AMAZON

Expedition Leaving Spain
This Month for Headwaters of River

Exploration of the little-known upper waters of the River Amazon and detailed study of the fauna and flora of an immense area of Latin America are objects of an expedition which, equipped with two British light airplanes, will leave Spain next month. Captain Antonio Gutierrez, chief pilot to the expedition, has just taken delivery of the second machine—a de Havilland Moth major biplane, from the Shorncraft factory, where it has been fitted with seaplane floats for river flying.

Spanish Minister of Education is providing funds for the exploration, which is expected to cost $600,000. It will be under the leadership of Captain Jimenez, the distinguished aviator who, in company with Captain Jimenez, flew in March, 1929, nonstop from Seville to Bahia.

Using a specially designed flat-bottomed boat of extremely shallow draught, the expedition plans to pursue research to the point along the great river where three nations join—Brazil, Colombia and Peru—and beyond to the borders of Ecuador.

The two airplanes will be housed in a hangar erected on the deck of the boat, which displaces 760 tons, and is fitted to provide a home for the members of the expedition during the long months of the exploration.

Exploration of the upper waters of the Amazon is to be conducted by the use of a boat which moves up the river, the seaplane will be employed to reconnoiter the route in advance, reporting back frequently, thus insuring safe navigation of the many perils of the uncharted Amazon and helping in the selection of suitable bases from which parties can explore in the interior and the seaplanes operate for the taking of thousands of aerial photographs. On the information obtained by the aerial camera will be based the first exact maps of the greater part of the region served by the Amazon.

For the past two years the scientist will take part in the adventure, have been placed their investigations. The fauna and flora of the Amazon region, the customs and racial characteristics of its human population, its geological formation, its weather and every other natural aspect of the largest unknown region in the world will be minutely studied. Scientists the world over will wish the expedition good fortune in its effort to bring back knowledge, much of which, because of the impenetrable forest that fringes thousands of miles of the course of the Amazon and its tributaries, would be unobtainable were it not for the lofty observation post provided by the flying machine.

TRAPPING YOUR PARTNER
The laws of the land are full of punishments for ordinary misdemeanors and felonies against civilians, but there is one that would astound them. What about the crimes of the bridge table? Behind not only would be too good—it wouldn't help. Bridge criminals wouldn't even miss their heads. Certainly not those who perpetrate that most atrocious outrage which occurs so often, "trapping one's partner." Yet this incredibly stupid action arises constantly. Such bidding as North, "one club"; South, "one heart"; North, "three hearts"; South, "four hearts"; North, "five hearts" is an commonplace as it is terrible. Let us analyze such a chain.

South's heart response may have been pretty weak. He may have held ♦ Q J x x x and nothing else, possibly a singleton somewhere. His partner, however, raised to three strong unless he had to go to game, and he's not to be blamed if he takes a deep breath and makes a plunge. So, what is his dismay, while having strained to bid four, to hear his fatuous partner scuttle the ship with a "feeler" of five, and worse, accompany it with a beaming smile. "Why," South groans inwardly, "couldn't the committee not bid his own game, when he knew, if I held a really respectable hand, I would have been fully capable of going to a slam myself?" But it's too late. The trap has been sprung.

OTHER chains of bidding, even among good players, reveal similar flaws or traps, perhaps not so flagrant, but just as the last stupid. I once played with a young "expert" who proudly produced the following atrociously:

HE ♠ I
1 ♠ 1 ♠
2 ♠ 2 NT

Not only that, but when I put this very fair hand: ♠ K J 10, ♠ 10 8 7 4, ♠ A Q 10 9 8, ♠ 3, he glared at me for having bid no trump with only one of his suits.

This sort of thing is painfully common. A partner first stills your fears with a minimum response (which happens to be a terrific one) and leads you to believe a slight liberty your part can do no harm. Then, proud of his previous restraint, he hoists anchor and sets full sail for Never Never Land. Back to the jungles with "trapper."

AN EXTRA CHANCE
When your opponents hold five cards of a suit they probably will be divided 3-2; when they hold six cards the probable division is 4-2. This is valuable knowledge when playing many hands.

GIVES OUTLINE OF EXPEDITION

Sir C. Delme-Radcliffe Addresses Overseas League On Interesting Subject

Before the Overseas League Sir Delme-Radcliffe on Monday gave a most interesting account of the Lango Expedition of 1906 organized to mop up certain Sudanese mutineers on the borders of Abyssinia and which he commanded.

The suppression of slave-trading was also an object of the expedition, very large numbers of slaves, up to 4,000 at a time, were captured, largely into Abyssinia. The old women of the raided tribes were knocked on the head and the other captives treated very cruelly. The number of slaves removed from one province of the Nile was very considerable, and Sir Charles said his first job was to get rid of the Sudanese mutineers, who were a focus of trouble.

The country where the Sudanese were encamped was forest land 4,000 feet high. His troops had largely to depend on sweet potatoes and honey for their food, the latter being indicated by the honey bird in a manner almost uncanny.

SIX COMPANIES

Sir Charles stated his expedition consisted of six companies of Sudanese, who had been under Emin Pasha's command. These men had close connection with the Abyssinian slave raiders, and it took some time to discipline them to the work required.

The long grass and trackless country made it difficult to locate the Sudanese. Covering seventy-eight miles in one day afoot to where the Sudanese were entrenched, the rebels bolted, but were finally rounded up in small parties. Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Cave plunged into the icy waters of Kinner Bay in a futile effort to save Mr. Lock, who was thrown into the deep water when a "sea flea" capsized.

The council ordered letters of commendation sent to the men, and the police commission to place full particulars before higher authority seeking some award for the pair.

The council also paid tribute to the memories of two well-known Esquimalt citizens, Arthur Wolfenden, a former councillor, and Sidney Head, brother of Councillor Alfred Head.

ACCOUNTS AUTHORIZED

Accounts totaling $17,322 were authorized. The council gave preliminary readings to a by-law authorizing the borrowing of $700 at low interest rate from the Provincial Government for relief purposes.

Reeve Alexander Lockley was appointed council representative to attend the Remembrance Day service.

The Aboriginal and neighboring tribes still practice cannibalism to some extent. On one occasion a chief came in great excitement to say that his village had been raided and many of the young children killed and eaten. Hurrying to the spot and en route falling into a hippopotamus trap, Sir Charles reached the bank of the river and opened fire on the raiders, who were just escaping in boats, with a Martini-Henry rifle, some of the boats being sunk and the occupants eaten by crocodiles.

Dr. A. G. Price presided at the meeting.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question—Partner bids one spade, second hand passes, and you hold ♠ K 9 7 6 3, ♠ 8 6 3 2, ♠ 4 3, ♠ 2, ♠ 1 (final bid).

Answer—Bid two spades. It is a common error to give a jump raise simply because of great length in partner's suit. When no singleton the ruffing power of the hand is not great, and unless partner can freely bid again there is no hope of game.

Dr. A. G. Price presided at the meeting.

NEW ORGANIZATION FORMED; OFFICERS FOR YEAR ELECTED

The B.C. Association of Teachers of Speech Arts, an organization which was recently formed, met to discuss the aims and ethics of their association. The officers of the organization are: President, Mrs. Wilfrid Ord, F.T.C.L.; vice-president, Miss Anne Moosman, F.T.C.L.; secretary-treasurer, Miss Madys Brown, F.T.C.L.; publicity and correspondence, secretary, Mrs. Irene Banver Robertson, F.T.C.L.

In order to become a member of the body a teacher must provide evidence of a record of general education, must have received qualifications, and be able to submit proofs of successful work. To educate the public to seek cultural and lasting rather than spectacular results, to set and maintain a high standard of spoken English in the curriculum of our public and high school education.

The association has mapped out a programme which it hopes will ultimately lead to the introduction of spoken English in the curriculum of our public and high school education.

Royal Wedding to Be Celebrated This Morning at Palace

Duke of Gloucester and Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott to Be Married in Presence of King, Queen and Members of Families

London, Nov. 5 (P)—Subdued gaiety filled London to-night on the eve of the wedding of the Duke of Gloucester, third son of the King and Queen, to Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott at Buckingham Palace at 11:30 tomorrow morning.

The wedding, which will bring to a close the celebrations of His Majesty's Silver Jubilee, is likely to be the last royal marriage Britons will see in many years unless the Prince of Wales finds a bride. He will be the only remaining bachelor of The Royal Family four years from now.

London will not see the elaborate ceremonies which had been planned for the event, originally arranged for Westminster Abbey. Because of the recent death of the bride's father, the Duke of Buccleuch, a private service will be held in the small white-gold chapel at Buckingham Palace.

Entertainers

Mrs. B. Gore entertained members and friends of the Victoria and Islands Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association at home on Monday afternoon at her home on Beach Drive, when Mr. Napier Moore, editor of Maclean's magazine, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Gore was assisted in receiving by her daughter, Mrs. B. S. Heisterman and Miss Eleanor Heisterman. Mr. Moore gave a most interesting talk which included much valuable information for writers and would-be sellers of stories. Among the invited guests were: Miss M. Eugene Perry, Mrs. M. H. Rathbone, Mrs. D. A. Henderson, Mrs. E. G. Fraine, Mrs. Myrtle E. Lane, Mrs. Minette, Miss Ann Marriott, Mrs. Sidney Wood, Miss Audrey Wood, Mrs. Berion, Mrs. H. W. Ebbes, Canavan, Mrs. W. BRIDE'S GOWN
Lady Alice's bridal gown is made of a new ivy pink material called crepe Alabice, produced by British weavers and dyers for the wedding. It is soft with a silky satin finish. The fabric is made in the simplicity of design, the bracelet material and the unique trimming of orange blossom which is inserted in the bodice front. The neck is like a cowl, forming a draped effect on the bodice and shoulders.

The silhouette shows neat-fitting lines with fullness at the hem. A scarf sash is draped round the waist and loops in the centre, with the ends falling to the instep in front. The long, tight sleeves finish in a point over the hand. Three little gatherings at the back near the arm holes cause the material to fall in, the wide sash across the back. The train, which is not very wide, widens at the end. The shoes, which barely show, are covered with crepe Alabice.

The halo headress of orange blossom is studded with diamonds and has a high point in the centre. It holds in place a silk tulle veil tinted to match the gown.

As the family bridal veil of old lace was mislaid, Lady Alice will wear tulle. The bridal bouquet will be tied with a large bow of pink and gold transparent lame, matching the trimming on the bride-maids' dresses.

QUEEN'S GOWN
An official announcement disclosed that Queen Mary will wear a specially-designed jewel-blue chiffon velvet gown. It was executed for the House of Commons, and is of lace patterned in pale gold. It has a charming cape of velvet and satin.

Her Majesty, the announcement said, will wear a swathed toque in blue and gold, the blue ribbon the Order of the Garter, and diamonds. A special train will take the royal couple to Kettering after the wedding.

Later they intend to spend a few days in Ulster before returning to the Queen and King for Christmas at Sandringham. Then the new Queen will take her place in the whirl of activities surrounding the royal family.

Psychologist Warns Against Tardy Girls

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (P)—The girl who keeps her beau waiting on the corner in the rain isn't the girl to marry, Dr. Alfred Adler, famed Viennese psychologist, advised modern youth today.

As usual, Doreen Wilson, popular Victoria songstress, will be featured in two or three-song successes, including hits directed from New York Broadway will be presented for the dancers by the City Contingent orchestra under Al Reynolds.

As usual, Doreen Wilson, popular Victoria songstress, will be featured in two or three-song successes, including hits directed from New York Broadway will be presented for the dancers by the City Contingent orchestra under Al Reynolds.

Even when it isn't raining, a boy should beware of the maid who "stands him up" or is late for a "date," the former associate of Dr. Sigmund Freud declared.

For, he warned, such tricks are sure signs the girl is more interested in herself than her escort, and that would ruin any wedding.

"It's just as bad, the psychologist said, for a girl to wed a youth 10 years her senior," Dr. Adler said.

It would make no difference whether she saved him from being "sick, a gambler, a loafer, or from a lower level," Dr. Adler said—her motive would be the same: a desire for adoration.

Piano Pupils Enjoy Party

A jolly time was spent recently at the home of Miss D. Moore, 1249 Rockland Avenue, when she entertained about twenty-five junior piano pupils at a masquerade party. The large room was decorated with "ghosts" and other favors suitable to the occasion. After a march round, which several visitors watched and thoroughly enjoyed, games and competitions called forth hilarious laughter from everybody, and between contests Teddy Bradbury, Bob Canova, Eric Dowell, Edmund Rose, Laura Bailey and Vincent Townsend played piano solos. Following refreshments, a treasure hunt for candy took place, after which prizes were given to End Browne, Ted Browne and Elsie Hawthorn for best costumes, and to Vincent Townsend for the funniest. Much credit was due to Phyllis Butterfield, End Browne and Peggy Butterfield for their efforts in organizing so happy and successful an afternoon.

"THIS TOOTHPICK TEST SHOWED ME HOW TO KEEP MY

Breath sweet... Teeth white!"

TAKE a toothpick or some uncoated dental floss. Clean between your teeth. Does it reveal small food deposits? Smell it. If it has an unpleasant odour, it means that your teeth are improperly cleaned. These food deposits are a common cause of bad breath and tooth decay, dentists say. But cleaning your teeth the Colgate way, with Colgate's Dental Cream eliminates this condition.

CLEAN YOUR TEETH THE COLGATE WAY

Morning and night with Colgate's Dental Cream brush thoroughly the upper teeth from gums down, lower teeth from gums up. Brush the cutting edge of your teeth with a circular motion. Then rinse your mouth. After that put a bit of Colgate's on your tongue and take another sip of water. Gargle well back in the throat, then flush the mouth and all tooth surfaces thoroughly clean.

Colgate's penetrating foam gets into all crevices and between the teeth where a toothbrush cannot reach. It dissolves odour breeding food deposits and washes them away.

YOU GET THESE COLGATE RESULTS

Your teeth are thoroughly clean. The polishing ingredient in Colgate's, the same one dentists use, keeps your teeth white and sparkling. Colgate's deliciously appealing flavor leaves your mouth refreshed and your breath fragrant. And brushing your teeth the Colgate way stimulates the gums.

For those who prefer it, Colgate's Dental Powder will give the same Colgate results. Large tin 20c.

CHAPTER XXVII

Ah, sat up, leaned a little forward. "You don't mean Carl?"

"I certainly don't mean the Senator," Bill replied shortly. "Runbrecker's as innocent as you are."

"Mollie doesn't think so."

"All right," said Bill. "I'll tell you what I know and you draw your own conclusions." He pulled up a chair, straddled it and began to smoke for a cigarette. "I've probably done as much nosing around on this mess as the police have, and I've learned quite a lot. Not enough to convert anybody, perhaps, but still—quite a lot."

He talked slowly, in that low drawl of his. "We'll go back to the beginning—that night that Rita came into this town of tears. It was the same night, you remember, that Mollie had the call saying Fuhrman had been drowned."

Ann nodded. Bill reminded her that Mollie had traced the call to a Thomas Circle shop and had then called Carl, whose apartment was near by, and asked him to go there and see if anyone was hanging around the public phone booth in the store.

"Carl went, all right," Bill said, "because I dropped into the shop and asked him to go there and see the proprietor." The proprietor remembered the occasion very well; he told Bill, because until the arrival of the Department of Justice man no one had used the public phone in his store for hours. The Justice Department man nevertheless searched the booth for fingerprints and called the telephone office to have them recheck the call.

"So you see," said Bill, "I had reason to suspect Carl from the very first."

Ann frowned. "I'm afraid I missed the point."

"I did, too, at first," Bill nodded. "But I got it pretty soon. Let's assume that Carl, for reasons of his own, decided to murder Fuhrman and to tell some one who, as he thought, would tell Fuhrman. He knows that Fuhrman is to drop by Mollie's office that evening and get the key to her apartment for Selma. So he picks Mollie as the informant. But he's wise enough to know that Mollie is too good a newspaper woman not to try to trace the call. Maybe he plans to call her at her office, of course, immediately, after he's made the phone that she will ask him to do exactly what she did ask him to do."

"Anticipating all this, he goes to the shop and asks the proprietor who can describe the last person who used the phone booth and being told that no one has used the booth for hours, he insists on looking for fingerprints and calling the exchange to recheck the call. Actually he calls Mollie at the Globe and, using that little contrivance Mollie picked up at the embassies, he tells her that Mollie has been drowned in the reflecting pool. In the meantime Mollie is talking to Fuhrman so that by the time she has an opportunity to trace the call and telephone Carl, Carl is back at his place."

Ann shook her head, doubtfully. "Sounds pretty far-fetched to me, Bill."

"As an isolated instance, yes," Bill agreed. "But still assuming Carl's the guilty man, you'll find in that first little episode a good deal that might help to explain some of the things that happened later—Well, come to that. Now let's get on to the night of the murder."

Bill got up and hunted around for an ash tray. When he had straddled the chair again, he said: "Selma says she planned the reflecting pool business as a joke and that she had no way of knowing Fuhrman would turn up and be

Industry in Canada Continues to Show Steady Improvement

Production in Many Lines at Highest Level of Year, Banks' Survey Shows—Farmers' Purchasing Power Increased

TORONTO, Nov. 5 (CP)—Marked improvement in industrial conditions continued during the last month, it was shown in the monthly commercial letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, released today.

Production of industrial equipment was at its highest level of the year, the report stated. In some major units production was double that of October last year.

The heightened activity of the period was due in part to another large volume of new construction contracts.

Probably the most stimulating influence for the forward surge was the new purchasing power of most farmers who, at the close of their harvest season, found general receipts better than were anticipated.

STEEL PRODUCTION

Steel production in September rose over the large output of the two preceding months to the highest level of the current year.

The lumber cut in British Columbia was particularly maintained on

BENNY FOULOIS

MAJOR-GENERAL BENJAMIN D. FOULOIS, who retires as Chief of the Army Air Corps on December 22, 1935, is credited with more firsts than any living American flyer. He was first to fly a military airplane, first to fly a military dirigible, the leader of the aviation unit that accompanied Pershing on his punitive expedition into Mexico against Villa and head of the first flying unit to reach France in the World War.

He entered the army as a private in the Spanish-American War, serving with the 1st U.S. Engineers. In 1908 when flying first became of interest to the army, he transferred

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ATTEMPTING to Have High Faris on Equipment Withdrawn

Estimate efforts have been made by Victoria Chamber of Commerce to have revised protective tariffs on United States motion picture and sound equipment coming into Canada, President W. T. Stratton told directors at a meeting Monday.

He said that he had the assurance of several film companies that they would come here to produce one or more pictures provided the high-tariff were removed or interests allowed to bring in equipment under bond.

During Premier W. L. Mackenzie King's visit to the Coast on his election campaign, Senator King interviewed him on the matter, Mr. Stratton said. At the time Mr. King had expressed his sympathy with those seeking the removal of the tariff.

Mr. Stratton pointed out that heads of motion picture were in Victoria at the present time, and would have to pay duty on their motion picture equipment when it arrived here in a few days. He explained he had communicated with Hon. Ian MacKenzie, Federal Minister of National Defence, and urged that no duty be placed on the equipment, but merely a bond until the Dominion Government had decided upon its policy.

A reply was expected yesterday. A letter was received from Herbert Lash, New York, former advertising man for the C.N.R., and read to the meeting. Mr. Lash deplored the high tariff on motion picture equipment and pointed out that several motion picture companies had been discouraged in their plans to take pictures in Canada as a result.

"You haven't mended my socks," remarked hubby, on arriving home from the office.

"Did you buy that coat, you promised me?" countered wifey.

"Well—er—no—" he was replying when she broke it with: "Then, Herbert, if you don't give a wrap, I don't give a darn."

WILL CONDUCT DRIVE FRIDAY

Victoria Chamber of Commerce Hopes to Increase Membership by 75

All members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce have been asked to help in the organization's membership drive, to be held Friday, commencing with a breakfast meeting at 8:30 o'clock.

More than seventy-five new members is the goal set. Fred M. McGregor, chairman of the committee, announced to directors at a meeting Monday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce. Every member of the Chamber will be urged to interview between six and eight business men in the city on that day with a view to having them join the organization.

An application for membership by Lieutenant-Colonel H. E. Goodman, of the Coast Hardware, was accepted by the directors yesterday.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

The Britannia Branch, No. 7, Canadian Legion, in a letter read at the meeting, asked the support of the Chamber of Commerce in the endeavor to have the air mail service from Eastern Canada, which now terminates in Vancouver, extended to take in Victoria. The matter was referred to the aviation committee, under R. H. B. Ker.

Douglas MacBride reported considerable opposition to the plan, over the possibility of the conversion of the B.C. Worsted Mills into a curling rink. One meeting was held recently and another would be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce. A communication from the B. Wilson Company was read, in which the company advised it could easily provide the necessary freezing facilities for the rink.

GAIN PUBLICITY

Letters of congratulation were received by the Chamber from a number of Victoria firms and representatives of various United States newspapers. A recent visit of Hon. John Nance Garner, Vice-President of the United States, and his official party.

W. T. Stratton, president, declared the reception given the visitors was one of the biggest undertakings of the Chamber in recent years. He extended the thanks of the board to George J. Warren, secretary, for the successful manner in which the affair was handled.

Directors expressed the belief that Victoria gained more favorable publicity through this visit than any other occurrence since has taken place in recent years.

TO SEND HOLY

Mr. McGregor suggested that each member of the Chamber who acted as a host to a member of the party send his guest a box of Victoria holy for Christmas with a suitable greeting enclosed. Mr. Warren and William Findlay, assistant secretary, were asked to take the lead in the forwarding of the holy.

To pay respect to the memory of Andrew Carnegie, who gave fortunes to promote education and culture in the United States and Canada, a brief summary of his life will be read at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors. A letter was read from Miss Margaret Clay, city librarian, in which she said that such a paper be read during the week of November 25, 100 years after the birth of the philanthropist.

PLAYHOUSE

THEATRE The bride of Frankenstein will be shown at the Playhouse Theatre for the next three days. Boris Karloff is seen in the leading role, ably supported by O. P. Heggie and Elsa Lanchester. Joan Crawford and Fred Astaire are also on the bill in "Dancing Lady."

LITTLE ORPHEUM

THEATRE George Raft, featured with Jean Parker and Anna May Wong in Paramount's "Limehouse Blues," now showing at Little Orpheum Theatre, estimates that he wrote his signature 10,000 times on autograph books, pictures and cards during his two months' personal appearance tour.
